The upper half of the reverse of the coin, bordered by a horizontal line, features the schematic depiction of a part of the façade of the building housing the School for the Blind. In the lower half of the reverse, arranged in two lines, is the depiction '200 ÉVES A VAKOK OKTATÁSA MAGYARORSZÁGON' (200th ANNIVERSARY OF EDUCATION FOR THE BLIND IN HUNGARY'), with the inscription '1825' in Braille writing, a reference to the date of the founding of the School for the Blind. The date, in Braille writing, was sized in a way that it could be read by the blind. It is for this reason that both versions of the collector coin were made in patinated finish, which provides adequate protection for the surface of the coins. In the middle of the lower half of the obverse is designer Dorisz Mercédesz Molnár's master mark.
